Whether you're a lover of fine art or simply a connoisseur of fine living, you will adore your stay at Cape Heritage. Tucked in a secret spot moments from Byron Bay town, this glorious property is a peaceful, meditative escape. Owned by award-winning environmental artist, John Dahlsen, the house and stunning sub-tropical gardens feature his internationally sought-after contemporary artworks and textural driftwood furniture.

The entire four-bedroom house can be your own exclusive haven for relaxing sojourns with family and friends. Its decor and design have a laid-back European style and the radiant conservatory is perfect for relaxing with a long, icy drink and a good book. The harmony of art, architecture and surrounds is serene.

For a real treat, John's wife Rago owns the Byron Bay Health Retreat at Cape Heritage (see page XX) which offers soothing therapies such as massage, beauty treatments, yoga and even psychic readings. With access to such pampering, inspiring artworks, tranquil gardens and a tenderly cherished property, Cape Heritage really is designed to nurture body and soul.
